

January 29, 2014

RESMARK COS., MADISON HOMES TO DEVELOP CONDOS IN D.C.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Resmark Land and Housing, a division of The Resmark Cos., and Madison Homes have teamed up to develop 69 luxury condominiums at 1745 and 1755 N St. N.W. in Washington, D.C.'s Dupont Circle neighborhood. The affluent neighborhood is located less than one mile from the White House and many international embassies. The District of Columbia Historic Preservation Review Board recently approved the plans for the project. The developers plan to convert some of the existing four- and five-story historic row homes to 31 condominium units. The developers also plan to building a seven-story building at 1755 N St. with 38 condominium units. The project team includes architect PGN Architects, based in Washington, D.C. Resmark and Madison Homes plan to begin construction in the summer and deliver the units in late 2015.